

Non-Standard English: They ain't got nothing.

Standard English: They haven't got anything.

Non-Standard English: I love the player what scored.

Standard English: I love the player who scored.

Non-Standard English: We was there yesterday.

Standard English: We were there yesterday.

Non-Standard English: Pass me them books!

Standard English: Pass me those books!

Non-Standard English: I played good.

Standard English: I played well.

Summer 1 and 2- Standard English

Standard English

Double negatives are not standard English

non-standard

standard

You don't know nothing.

You don't know anything.
You know nothing.

She never saw nobody.

She didn't see anybody.
She saw nobody.

I'm not helping no more.

I'm not helping any more.
I'm helping no longer.

I ain't got none.

I ~~haven't~~ (got) any.
I ~~have~~ (got) none.

You're not going nowhere.

You aren't going anywhere.
You're going nowhere.

They ain't never happy.

They aren't ever happy.
They're never happy.